White House Parley Fails to End Steel Dispute

RECORDER IS OBJECTED TO
BY SENATOR

Washington (AP)—Sen. William Benton refused to testify today at a pre-trial hearing in Sen. Joseph McCarthy's two million dollar libel-slander suit against him because of a tape-recording device McCarthy insisted upon.

The hearing was to be held in a Senate committee room with McCarthy acting as his own attorney. Benton went to the room but decided against answering any questions when he found the recording device had been set up.

Benton, Connecticut Democrat, acted upon advice of one of his attorneys, Theodore Klendel of New York.

Klendel said Benton would not participate "with my consent" so long as the recording device remained in the room.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, said he would ask the U. S. District Court here to order Benton to give testimony.

McCarthy expressed surprise that "a great pillar of virtue such as Mr. Benton" would not have his testimony taken down on tape.

McCarthy called his libel-slander suit against the Connecticut Democrat "very important" and said Benton "should not object to having an absolutely accurate record."

McCarthy's two million dollar suit developed from a move by Benton looking toward ousting McCarthy from the Senate. McCarthy contends he was libeled when Benton told a Senate committee that McCarthy committed perjury in pressing his charges that Communists have infiltrated the State Department.

One of Busiest Weeks of the Political Year to Date Off
To Exciting Start in Maryland

By The Associated Press
One of the busiest weeks of the political year to date gets off to a running start today with the Maryland Preferential Primary.

Maryland voters nominate Senators and House members, and elect delegates to state conventions which in turn will name 24 Republican and 18 Democratic delegates to the National Conventions.

With write-ins banned, voters have but one chance to cast ballots for a White House aspirant: Democratic Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is the only presidential hopeful listed.

In a few scattered sections Republicans may ballot on delegates who have openly endorsed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination.

However, Maryland's 24 Republican delegates — when named — are expected to follow the lead of Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. The governor has dropped broad hints he may back Eisenhower, but also has encouraged followers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio to believe he may endorse their man.

It will be a busy week politically with Democrats choosing 180 convention delegates the Republicans 78. The most significant primary contests for the week will take place in Ohio and Florida tomorrow.

Additional delegates will be chosen in Alabama, Indiana, New Mexico, Illinois, Nevada, Utah and Michigan.

City police report one motor vehicle accident over the week and, occurring at 9:20 p. m. Sunday when cars operated by Edwin E. O'Connor, of Clarendon RD 1, and Julius A. Schultz, 21 Park street, were struck by a third car operated by Wilbert T. Robinson, of Willoughby, Ohio.

No one was injured, and damage was estimated at $300.

Police said the accident occurred when O'Connor and Schultz, both facing east, were waiting at the Pennsylvania avenue west crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad for a train to pass; and Robinson's car struck Schultz, driving him into the O'Connor car. Damage to the two stopped cars was estimated at $50 each, and to Robinson's car about $200.

Police rounded up two boys who some time ago broke several windows in a private garage on Pennsylvania avenue, east. The lads promised to pay up.

Friday evening about 11:30 o'clock, police found the front window of Merle Graham's store broken in. They called Mr. Graham to make repairs for the night.

Early Saturday morning, officers were called to the west side to quell a family battle between a father and two sons. Peace was restored.

Denver (AP) — A small settlement in the nation-wide oil industry strike may be an important one.

The Independent Union of Petroleum Workers, one of 22 unions on strike, announced at Los Angeles last night a wage agreement with the Standard Oil Co. of California covering 5,000 workers. The agreement reportedly granted a wage increase of 18½ cents an hour—7.5 per cent retroactive to May 1 and 4.2 per cent retroactive to Jan. 1. Shift differentials will go to 6, 7½ and 12 cents an hour. The wage rate has averaged $2.02 an hour and differentials 4, 5 and 6 cents.

Spokesmen immediately hailed the terms as possibly setting a pattern for other settlements in the oil industry.

Meanwhile, the grip of an oil workers' strike squeezed commercial, private and military aviation today, but mounted only slowly in effect for the rest of the gasoline-powered nation.

The strike, called last Wednesday, closed some of the world's greatest oil refineries, including key units for production of aviation gasoline, and was felt in distribution facilities.

The result was an order yesterday by Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman limiting the use of gasoline by airlines and private fliers. His order—effective at 3:01 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, tomorrow—cuts fuel for airlines 30 per cent. Pleasure and sports flights by private fliers are cut entirely.

Chief Robert Mahan announced today that the new truck will be on display in the playground to the rear of the North Warren school, between 7 and 7:45 this evening, just prior to a meeting of the North Warren Civic Club in the Community House at 8 p. m.

Several contributions have been received from well-wishers outside the North Warren area, and it is announced that anyone desiring to help may send gifts to Ted Rogers, North Warren, Pa., Mr. Rogers being secretary and treasurer of the truck fund.

Through arrangements made by the distributive education class in Warren High School, taught by Warren E. Miller, a representative from the Jamestown office of the Federal Social Security Program will explain to the seniors in the school the social security and other financial aid programs to which they will be contributing as they take their places in the vocational world.

Chester Norman, manager of the area office in Jamestown, was in Warren recently to discuss plans with Gerald Newton, director of curriculum and supervision, and Floyd W. Bathurst, principal of the high school.

They arranged that the representative will give a visual aid instructional period, with a short movie, in the senior English classes, taught by Miss Mathilda Steinhoff, Monday May 12, and repeat explanations in the senior business English classes, instructed by Miss Jean Steele, and in the distributive education classes Tuesday, May 13.

Being Involved In
Melee at Clarendon

Two men from Jackson avenue extension and one from Buffalo, N. Y., were arraigned this morning on multiple charges of assault and battery and lesser charges, as the result of pugilistic efforts in Clarendon Saturday during which one officer is alleged to have been beaten up. They all entered pleas of guilty and a hearing was set for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, before Justice of the Peace Paul Leiby, of Rogertown.

They are Frederick Reist, Richard Reist, both of Jackson avenue extension, and James Leonard of Buffalo, N. Y., Marlin Wood, also of Jackson avenue extension, was released by Justice Leiby Saturday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

The men were arrested by Constable William Shea in Clarendon Saturday afternoon after a day of troublemaking which culminated in an attack on Constable Shea when he attempted to take them into custody. During the fight which ensued, Constable Shea was beaten by the men. State police were called to aid in bringing them to the county jail.

Earlier in the day, the men allegedly attacked John Shea, son of Constable Shea, and Richard Haggerty. They had been locked out of a Clarendon tavern to prevent more trouble, officers said.

Richard Reist faced three counts of assault and battery, one on William Shea and the other on John Shea.

County Family Has Letters Concerning Soldier Son's Death

Sugar Grove, May 5—Through Mrs. Walter Sweeney, a sister, it is learned that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richmond, of Daytona Beach and Jamestown, have received two letters from their son, Cpl. Edward Richmond, when he met his death in Korea on April 25, 1951.

The family has had conflicting statements concerning his death, one of which was to the effect that his body was buried in Japan and would be brought home for reinterment. These two recent letters have convinced them his body was likely never recovered.

One letter, written by Lt. John M. Noll, states he was working with Cpl. Richmond, repairing a switchboard, when a grenade landed between them, exploded and caused the local man's death. After the Chinese were driven off, he said, he carried his friend's body nearer the road, to be taken over by the Medical Corps. He praised Cpl. Richmond as "a steady, brave, earnest and uncompromising soldier and a fine Christian man and gentleman."

The other letter came from Charles A. Fitzgerald, now at Fort Benning, Ga., who said his friend's body was never recovered. The wounded were taken out first, he explained, and time did not permit a return for the others. The action took place at the 38th parallel, he said. Cpl. Richmond had been with the troops who fought up through South Korea and into North Korea, were taken back by boats, and were on their way up again.

Cpl. Richmond was born in Sugar Grove and attended the local and Jamestown High Schools. He served 18 months from 1946 to 1948, much of the time in Japan, and was recalled as a Reserves member in August, 1950. During the periods he served in the Army, he had started an ice cream business in Daytona, Fla.

A new dress and a new help for meal-makers are now incorporated in White House evaporated milk, available at all A&P Food Stores, the company announced today.

The new package comes with a red, white and blue label, and complete recipes for puddings and other dishes are printed on the label as an aid to women planning meals.

White House is also introducing a new product, a one-pound package of non-fat dry milk solids. The container is cylindrical, moisture-proof, and has metal top and bottom, permitting re-sealing after each use. At thirty-five cents it makes an excellent value, for it will make five quarts of milk.

Sylvania Electric, Inc., to Produce Metal Parts in New Factory Near York

New York, May 5 — Sylvania Electric Products Inc. announced today it is negotiating a lease for a 50,000-square-foot factory building to be erected in the York area. The new plant will be used for the fabrication of metal parts and will be operated as a unit of Sylvania's

New Highway Map Prepared for Start Of Tourist Season

Harrisburg—With start of the tourist season, the Pennsylvania Department of Highways will have a new map of the highways throughout the state ready for free distribution, Secretary of Highways E. L. Schmidt announced today.

The face of the map reflects the major construction projects that have been completed during the post-war record improvement program of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways while work scheduled for the near future appears in outline.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike is marked throughout its course, between King of Prussia and the Ohio border, with the interchanges indicated. A list of these junctions with Pennsylvania's State Highway System is printed separately below the map.

State parks, picnic areas, airports and the Highway Department's Roadside Rests are also marked. Traffic route numerals have been brought up to date.

Then, too, the extent to which motorists may drive on widened highways is reflected by means of a special symbol indicating multiple lane pavement and divided highways.

The biggest single improvement has been made on the reverse side of the map, which also contains an index to principal cities, towns and State Police barracks. Rules of the road, as well as the mileage between points on principal routes and additional features.

For the first time color has been added to this side of the map for easier reading. City maps of all communities of 25,000 population and upward have been simplified, and in some instances enlarged, on the theory that the motorist encounters greater difficulties in congested communities than on the open road, hence needs more detailed information. By-passes, both completed and projected for the near future are plainly marked.

The map cover page consists of a typical Pennsylvania scene with medallions, symbolic of the state's high place in industry, agriculture, education, religion, and in the fields of science. This is in four colors. "The new map plus the new sign markers, now being placed along Pennsylvania highways will make it easier for the motorist to have a safe and pleasant journey than ever before," Schmidt said.

Parts Division, which has headquarters at Warren.

R. J. Hartung, general manager of the Parts Division, said the negotiations with Sherill-Noonan, Inc., of York cover a lease that will contain an option to purchase the plant, which will be located on the Neff estate in Spring Garden Township, just outside the York city limits.

The Division will use the new facility to expand its metal fabrication operations and for several new projects now under consideration. Mr. Hartung also announced that Sylvania is occupying 10,000 square feet of manufacturing space at 1428 Sixth Avenue, York, on a temporary basis where personnel will be trained during construction of the new plant.

It is expected that construction work on the new building will start shortly and that it will be completed by the end of the year. Mr. Hartung said that when the new plant is in full operation it will employ approximately 250 persons. With the exception of a few key personnel from the Sylvania organization, all employees will be from the York area.

Manager of the York plant will be Charles E. Schell, who has been Manager of the Parts plant in Emporium, since 1948. Mr. Schell has been a member of the Sylvania Staff for 24 years and is a native of Renovo.

The Parts Division has two plants in Warren and one each in Long Island City, New York, Neilsonville, Ohio, and Cleveland, Ohio. Affiliated operations are company subsidiaries in Brazil and Puerto Rico which fabricate mica.

Products of the Division include formed metal parts, leads for lamps and electronic tubes, cold drawn wire, plastic tube and lamp bases, radio tube and fluorescent lamp sockets, laminated terminal strips and boards, stamped circuits and airlocks, plastic closures, knobs and dials, other plastic parts, and fabricated bridge mica.

Overall executive direction of the Division is vested in A. L. Chapman, vice president and also General Manager of the Radio and Television Division. Mr. Hartung is divisional General Manager; Philip M. Pritchard, General Sales Manager; and Charles H. Gleason, divisional controller.

State Is Enjoying Apple Bloom Time

Harrisburg—This is apple blossom time in Pennsylvania.

The greatest display of bloom is expected to appear between May 1 and 5, according to surveys of the State Department of Agriculture. Apple trees should be in full bloom over this week-end in the Adams-Franklin-York and the Berks-Lehigh fruit belts and a week or so later in the northern areas, including the important fruit growing area in Erie county, observers said.

The second annual Boyertown Apple Blossom Festival will attract thousands of motorists to that Berks county community on Sunday, May 4. Tours of orchards in that area will be indicated by road markers. Ceremonies include the coronation of Miss Marilyn Gerhart, Boyertown High School student as Apple Blossom Queen. She will be attended by a court of Apple Blossom Princesses from the area.

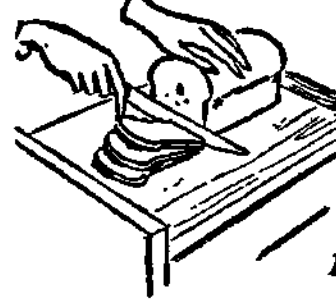

Many Pennsylvania fruit growers and others plan to attend the annual Shenandoah Valley Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va., May 1, 2, and 3. Miss Lee Joan Packard, a Penn State co-ed from Roaring Springs, Blair county, has been chosen by the State Horticultural Association as the 1952 Pennsylvania Apple Blossom Princess. She will be a member of the court of Miss Nina Warren.

asks a Milwaukee correspondent. "West opened the jack of spades, dummy played low, and East played the queen. South won with the ace of spades and decided that East's queen of spades had been a singleton.

"Declarer led a low spade at the second trick, and West naturally played the five of spades. South then finessed dummy's nine of spades, and the hand went up in smoke. East won with the ten of spades and returned a heart. The defenders wound up with a trump, two hearts and a diamond.

"Was there any way for South to know what the true trump situation was? Would an expert be fooled by East's deceptive play of the queen of spades at the first trick?"

East's play was very neat, and South had no way to be sure of the trump situation. Nevertheless he should have made his contract. South should be blamed for picking the wrong line of play.

The correct play is to win the first trick with the ace of spades and cash the two top clubs at once. South next leads a trump to dummy's king. If the trumps are 2-2, South has no further problem (as long as the diamonds break reasonably).

Suppose, however, that East's queen of spades really was a singleton. West is now left with the established ten of spades, but South is still in good shape.

Declarer continues by cashing the top diamonds and ruffing a club. Then he leads a trump and allows West to take his trump trick.

What can West then do? If he happens to have a high diamond, he can take it, but this merely postpones the key play. He must then lead hearts, allowing South to win a trick with the king (since a club lead will surely allow dummy to ruff while South discards a heart). In any case South will lose one trump, one diamond, and one heart.

In short, South should not try to guess the trump situation. He should prepare for an end-play since that will assure the contract if West eventually wins a trump trick.

Onion Flavor Shared by Many Home Garden Plants

Green Onions From Onion Sets Can Be Harvested in Three Weeks After Sowing.

Perennial onions, grown from Egyptian "top sets", give the first vegetable crop of the year. Green onions grown from "bottom sets" planted early, are produced in three weeks from the time of sowing. Through the rest of the year it is possible to provide the indispensable onion flavor from various members of the onion tribe.

This flavor can be produced by some of the cousins in a form which may be more acceptable to you than in the onion. Chives for example, are milder, much less odorous, and especially good in salads and cottage cheese. Leeks are preferred by the British for flavoring cooked dishes. And you must know about garlic, of which you can grow a year's supply in about one foot of garden row planted to garlic sets.

Top onion sets, produced by perennial varieties instead of seeds, may be planted in the fall, and will produce green onions before the ground can be worked in the spring. Bottom sets, which are really dwarf onions, checked in growth by crowding in the row, may be planted in the spring as soon as the ground is prepared.

The smaller sets, sown an inch deep, will produce mature onions in two months, much quicker than you can grow them from seed. Use the larger sets for green onions, and plant them deeper, as much as three inches. They grow quickly, church, the community, the state, and the world. "Love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, does not behave itself unseemly," and "Love makes no parade, gives itself no airs, is never rude," were other quotations appropriately used.

The service opened with a prelude "Largo" by Handel, with Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen as organist, and Mrs. Dwight Sizle at the piano. The Rev. C. W. Baldwin in presenting the honored guest said that he had been reminded some time ago by Charles Berry, head usher, that it was 29 years ago May 4, that a class of eighty was received in the church, and suggested that a reunion be held in connection with the 50th anniversary of Dr. Barr's ministry, to make the day a "festive occasion."

The Rev. Mr. Baldwin referring to Dr. Barr stated that few men in the Erie conference have brought so much good to so many over such a long period of years. He said Dr. and Mrs. Barr have friends by the thousands who joined with Grace church in the tribute planned for them during the day.

Following the service the congregation was invited by the Rev. Baldwin to form a friendship circle and before being dismissed all present took advantage of the opportunity to personally greet Dr. and Mrs. Barr.

The reception at four o'clock in the afternoon was held in the church which was filled almost to capacity, with many in the congregation coming from distant points to honor the retired minister and his wife, including representatives from churches in Kane, Franklin, Brookville and other points. Dr. Thomas E. Colley, of Erie, formerly of First church in this vicinity, and a longtime friend of Dr. Barr, was the speaker, paying rich and deserved tribute to the guests of honor.

During the program, Howard Smith, master of ceremonies, greeted the honor guests in behalf of the congregation, and later presented to them a large luxury chair and floor lamp. Another evidence of the high regard in which the good pastor and his wife are held was evidenced by a large basket of flowers that adorned the basement room where the reception was held and refreshments served.

Following the afternoon program which concluded with Robert Buchanan singing "The Lord's Prayer" and the benediction by the Rev. Baldwin, the honor guests, Dr. and Mrs. Barr, with Dr. and Mrs. Colley, the Rev. and Mrs. Baldwin and the Trustees and their wives formed a receiving line for the reception in the basement rooms.

The golden anniversary motif was emphasized in the arrangements for the reception and serving of refreshments following the afternoon program in the church. Ice cream, sugar and napkins all had the figures "50" imprinted in them. Mrs. Freeman O. Peterson and Mrs. W. J. Summerville poured for the serving of coffee, assisted by Mrs. Roy Krebs and Mrs. Russell Templeton. The kitchen committee consisted of Mrs. E. G. Garber, Mrs. Sam Loomis, Mrs. D. J. Laramore, Mrs. Howard Van Orsdale, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Miss Ethel Baldensperger, and Mrs. Ed Bimber. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bergman, the latter at the piano accompanied by Mr. Bergman with the violin. Mrs. Andrew Nelson was chairman of the general committee.

The head usher for the service in the morning was Charles Berry, who was assisted by Malcolm Young, Noble Clark, Howard Wilson, Kenneth Cole and Walter Strong.

President Strikes Off a Few Bars On Piano at Opening

Washington—(AP)—President Truman proudly showed off the revamped "White House—as he called it—struck off a few bars of piano music and told tales, old and new, of the mansion's past occupants.

That was the intimate picture millions of television viewers across the nation got Saturday as the President took them on a room to room tour of the historic home. Six television cameras and announcers from the three networks carrying the program followed Truman through the first two floors which is what tourists see. He also showed prepared pictures of his family's living quarters, normally closed to public gaze.

Invited to sit down at one of the two pianos in the stately east room, the President played a few bars of Mozart's Ninth Sonata. Then he played a few bars on the other piano while standing.

County Republican Committee to Meet

A convention of the Warren County Republican Committee has been called by Chairman Jesse G. Smith for May 16th with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, at the North Warren Community House.

The call for the meeting states that it will be for the purpose of electing a county chairman and for any other business that may formally come before the session.

Since most of the committee-men elected at the April Primary were previously members of the organization it is anticipated that Mr. Smith will be re-elected without opposition. He has been chairman for 21 years, since taking over the post to succeed the late Gerald Wright in 1931.

Ministerial Assoc. Elects Rev. Morey

At a meeting held this morning in the YMCA, Rev. Roger Morey, pastor of Bethel EUB church, was elected president of the Warren County Ministerial Association to succeed Dr. Robert Steen, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

Other officers elected were as follows: Rev. Harold Lindquist, pastor of Youngsville EUB church, vice president; Rev. Leland Hine, pastor of First Baptist church, secretary; and Dan Walton, executive secretary of the YMCA, treasurer.

The Association's next meeting will be in September.

Photography Is Thursday Evening Guild Important Part Of Talent Exhibit

Sunny, springlike days should provide perfect inspiration for fine photographic work for entry in the Art Show to be held at the Woman's Club auditorium on May 15, 16 and 17.

There's still time before the entry deadline on May 13 to line up subjects and get those cameras clicking.

"All photos must be mounted and given a title," cautions Mrs. Robert Wilder, chairman of the photographic division. They must be sized 8 by 10 or 11 by 14 inches and will be classified at the time of judging into respective groups, such as landscapes, animals, children, buildings, etc. Prizes will be awarded the best entries.

All amateur photographers in Warren county are invited to participate in the show and are urged to "get out your camera and snap a winner." The one you never thought would take a prize is sometimes the very one which does, so plan to enter the contest today.

Wedding Fashions Take a New Turn

This year's bride can be as formal or as informal as she likes at her own wedding. She can spend a little or a lot, wear a long or short dress. No matter what her choice, American designers have seen to it that she'll look pretty. Junior bride (left) chooses romantic, full-skirted short dress in white cotton lace over pink taffeta. Throatline is cut to a high V. Formal bride (center) wears lustrous pean-ding's over. A very full skirt of net is topped by a lace apron effect; the waist is cinched in with grosgrain ribbon sash in matching pink.

as hip insert. She wears matching elbow-length gloves. Her small admirers wear floor-length dresses in blue tulle trimmed with wide bands of chantilly lace in an apron effect that sweeps to the back in bustle puff. Informal bride (right) picks short lace wedding dress in pale pink with halter-neck and cover-up bolero. This is a dress that need not be packed away in tissue paper when the wedding's over. A very full skirt of net is topped by a lace apron effect; the waist is cinched in with grosgrain ribbon sash in matching pink.

Fred Plummer Has Stepped Into Lead Of Players' Show

Fred Plummer, past president and current member of the board of trustees of the Warren Players Club, is making one of his finest contributions to the organization when, with less than a week's notice, he steps into the leading role of "The Silver Whistle".

Because Robin Clark, who was playing the part of Oliver Kerventer, recently left town, it was necessary to find a substitute, and Mr. Plummer volunteered. Not only did he come to his first rehearsal with the first-act lines learned, but he made a one-day business trip to New York and back by air in order not to miss a rehearsal.

The directors, Helen Morrow and Helen Potter, and the cast have complete confidence in Mr. Plummer's playing the role to perfection Thursday and Friday nights, and all the Players members should be proud to have a real trouper in their midst. "The show must go on"—even in the amateur theatre.

Box office for "The Silver Whistle" will be open in the lobby of the Woman's Club tonight, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 7:00 to 9:00.

Be Fair With Your Friends
If You Want to Keep Them

If you want to keep your friends, don't make any of the following habits:

Unloading all your small troubles on them, so that when they hear your voice on the telephone they are pretty sure they are in for a half hour of sympathizing with you.

Discussing one friend's shortcomings with another. That is a tip-off that you aren't loyal to your friends. Besides, the criticisms you utter in the belief that they won't be passed on, all too often get back to the friend you criticized.

Wearing a long face. If you want people to enjoy your company, you've got to give them something to enjoy.

Trying to outdo them. If you're always got to outshine your friends in order to be happy, they'll soon become competitors instead of friends.

YOUR ENVY WILL SHOW ITSELF

Presenting the good fortune that now and then comes to your friends. If you aren't really pleased when a friend gets a break, your envy will show itself in some little way. If you are honestly pleased, your pleasure will show just as surely.

Telling your friends how they ought to be solving their problems. Most adults resent any inference that they can't handle their own affairs, and the "if-I-were-you" advice that friends often feel tempted to give each other usually isn't appreciated.

Always taking instead of giving, or vice versa. To be a good friend you must be ready to help out when your help is needed and to accept a friend's help when it is offered.

Taking up too much of a friend's time. It is only natural to finally come to resent the person who demands more of your time than you are willing to give.

New Automatic Gas Range on Display

The latest development in automatic gas ranges is now on display at the offices of Pennsylvania Gas Company. Known as the "wheel-about," this new and exclusive feature of the Universal gas range offers many advantages plus all the modern features heretofore found on an automatic gas range.

The "wheel-about" is just what the name implies. It is the part of the range in which you now keep pots, pans, etc., so designed that it is readily movable to any part of the kitchen. Mounted on four wheels and a travel guide, the top of the "wheel-about" is used as a cutting board which is firmly set into the top frame of the cart and, of course, it is right there at the range.

Among the many advantages of this new Universal range are (1) you can roll it right up to your refrigerator and load butter, eggs, milk (or anything you need) on it and then move it to any desired place in your kitchen, (2) saves steps by enabling you to put washed pots, spoons, knives, etc., in right at the sink and then

LAUD MASONIC HERD

May 2—National recognition of the 85 cow Ayrshire herd of Masonic Homes Farm, Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania, was proclaimed at the 77th National Ayrshire Breeders' Association meeting Friday evening at the convention banquet in the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, Md.

The Masonic Homes Farm herd ranks 2nd among the Ayrshire dairies of the U. S. having from 75 to 100 cows.

These thirty descendants of the well known Scottish dairy breed produced an average, actual production of 9112 lbs. of 4.20% milk and 382 lbs. of butterfat. On a twice-a-day milking, Mature Equivalent basis, this splendid figure converts to 8859 lbs. of milk and 414 lbs. of butterfat, and an M. E. of 4% milk equal to 10154 lbs.

just wheel them all into their permanent place in the range, (3) greater storage space is afforded—and easier to reach, too, by the "wheel-about's" larger drawer on roller bearings at the top for cooking spoons, forks, skimmers, etc., a shelf for pie plates, cake tins, etc., and the bottom space for saucepans.

The "wheel-about" is an extra table top storage cart which takes the place of cumbersome drawers and inaccessible compartments, and which glides, at a touch, into and out of the range, for use—anywhere in the kitchen. It was adopted by Universal after a consumer survey among housewives in urban, rural and industrial areas. Over 95% of the women interviewed expressed a preference for the "wheel-about"

Meeting Is Held Of State Employees

A well attended meeting of the McKean-Warren-Potter-Cameron Counties Chapter of the Independent Association of PLCB Employees, was honored yesterday afternoon at Smethport by a visit from State President Hikel D. Taimuty, of New Kensington.

Considerable time was given to discussion of a recent meeting of the negotiating committee with a committee representing the Liquor Control Board, and Mr. Taimuty told of objectives of the Association and the likelihood of achieving some of these objectives. Particularly interesting to members was a new schedule of grading under consideration by the two committees.

Delegates and alternates to the Association's annual convention in October were elected and are as follows: John Seyfang, manager of Kane store, and L. N. Schuler, manager of Youngville store, as delegates; and Everett Samuelson, assistant manager of Bradford store, and John Costello, manager of Eldred store, as alternates.

It was announced that the date for the second annual picnic for employees of a 10-county north central district has been set tentatively for July 20 or 27. The affair will be held at Hemlock Grove, located about 1 1/2 miles south of St. Marys on Route 158. The next meeting of the chapter will be held at Eldred on Sunday June 29.

Chapter 15
TROUBLE had come to the hills. A thousand throats, wailed anguish and protest at the intrusion of men and horses into the peaceful existence which the bovine herd had led through the long Summer.

A brindle cow, long of horn and fleet-footed, with memories fresher than most, nuzzled the side of her offspring and looked wildly around. The brand on the calf's hide had been deeply burnt, resulting in a festering sore which was scarcely healed after many weeks. And now trouble was dogging their footsteps again.

All at once she turned, moving with the shadowy grace and speed of a deer, fading back out of sight. But the horseman, strangely silent as well, burst into view, riding hard to force cow and calf into the open.

This was no new game of hide-and-seek. It had been going on for half an hour, with honors approximately even. But now, to the cow's surprise, her attempt to break back and away from the gathering herd was successful. Not only that, but the rider was actually urging them toward the hills. The calf blatted once, joyously, not understanding, but with comprehension that this was the way to go.

A quarter of a mile away, Steve signaled to two of his men—Burt McKee and another puncher from Walden's Cross Buck. They in turn moved fast, riding at angles to cut off both the cow and the man who thus strangely headed her away from the herd.

"No wonder the calf crop is short," McKee grunted. "With that cow wearin' the Diamond R. and her calf sportin' a Noose."

Here was confirmation of the suspicion which had been in all the crew for months—proof either of crooked work or of a carelessness approaching the criminal. There were too many calves wearing the Noose, too few with the Diamond R. But mostly those were among the older calves, not the youngsters who still ran with their mothers.

Those were supposed to be unbranded, save where a puncher, finding a calf bandy, would rope it and burn the brand as a part of his every-day duties. This one was a case of proof that someone had been too free with a running iron. A calf which followed a Diamond R cow should wear a Diamond R brand, if any.

Apparently the other rider, who had been attempting to haze the cow and calf away from the gathering herd, thought so too. This would not be a good exhibit for other eyes to see. Such a mistake might be made, but it was highly suspicious.

"That's Hektor, of the Noose," McKee grunted.

Hektor had suddenly become aware of their presence. Either the man was panicky, or else he was possessed of more than the usual quota of courage and stubbornness.

Such an exhibit, spread before the eyes of all the outfits represented in the round-up, would be damaging to the Noose, and might precipitate a Cattlemen's Court on the spot, with more than one short-circuited outfit demanding a showdown. Hektor's intention had been to get rid of this evidence, and he gambled now on his ability to do so. Probably he saw only two of the other riders—Steve and McKee. The Cross Buck man was hidden by a clump of brush.

Passover Creek was close ahead. For a few moments, the Noose rider was hidden from sight of the others, close up to the cow. Nostrils flared, calf at her heels, she ran along a narrow path which skirted the edge of the canyon where the creek had buried itself. More than a hundred feet below showed the dark gleam of silent pools, broken into tumult of white water a short distance farther downstream where the canyon ended.

Here was his chance, and Hektor took it. He hurtled out of the brush like an avenger, bringing his horse slamming against the side of the cow bore the quite realized what was happening. The cow tried desperately to leap aside, to withstand the impact, but there was no chance. The plunging cayuse was like a battering ram. With a despairing bellow the cow was knocked over her feet and over the cliff, toward the Passover far below.

For just an instant, controlling his cayuse and swinging it back in the nick of time, Hektor allowed a tight smile to crease his usually sour face. That had been close, but it had worked better than he had hoped. He'd explain that the cow had gotten away, back into the wild country. They'd drive the calf back to the herd, and whatever suspicious Russell might entertain, a branded calf alone was no proof.

It was only as all three of the others came into sight that he had a premonition of disaster. For the calf, bawling lonesomely, was answered by a louder bellow, and Hektor saw the cow, as lively as ever, splash through the shallows and on to the shore. There she was promptly joined by her eager calf, which began getting its dinner. Standing so, both brands were prominently displayed—the Diamond R on the cow, the N on the calf.

Hektor looked wildly around. Escape was cut off out of the question. He opened his mouth to try and explain, but reading the looks on the faces of the trio, closed it again. It had been a compromising situation before now, by involving himself in it, he had made it far worse.

Steve looked significantly toward his companions, glanced to where a pine tree towered conveniently not far off. "We'll give him a chance to talk," he said.

WARREN FACES CORRY AND TITUSVILLE THIS WEEK AFTER VICTORY AT BRADFORD

DeLeo, Shea, Morley, Scalise Again Break Record in Relay; Injuries Fail to Stop Dragons

Driven by youthful aspiration, the Warren High Dragon track and field squad battled to a 49-44-30% victory over Bradford and Kane schools respectively, Saturday afternoon, in a triangular meet at the Bradford Senior high field. And to make it even more glorious, it was won the grand old Blue and White way.

Saturday's meet marked the third straight victory for Coach O'Neil's squad. The Dragons, despite a strong wind in the home stretch, another Warren all-time record was set. For the third time in as many meets the mile relay team, made up of Sam DeLeo, Toby Shea, Rod Morley and George Scalise, set a new mark. They were clocked at 3:42 Saturday, bettering their previous mark by six-tenths of a second.

The contest was a battle all the way, with only a narrow margin separating Warren and Bradford not to be decided until the final event, the 880-yard relay. Dick Hegarty gave the Briggsmen a three-quarter point edge by winning the road jump and the mile relay over the Owls. Ordinarily the Dragons would have taken victory granted, with only the 880-yard event left, but two members of the team, Bud Terry and Don Mahaffey, had been injured earlier in the meet, leaving a question mark. Rod McCollough and Hegarty made the fill-in nicely and helped bring home the pie.

In addition to these injuries, John Fisher received a cut leg during the javelin throw and was unable to enter the high jump. Physical damage also kept Mahaffey out of the 220-yard dash.

While Warren failed to place in their events, to Bradford's one and Kane's seven, they made the only clean sweep in the entire meet, when Morley, Cramer and Scalise walked off with the 880 in that order. The Dragons took seven of a possible 14 first places. Winners were DeLeo, 440; Morley, 880; Krespan, mile; Pastrick, shot; Hegarty, broad jump; and the two relay events. Bradford's Monte Sedel was the only individual to take two first places.

Max Krespan kept his undefeated record intact by finishing the mile in 4:55 and put the fans in an uproar while doing it. Weak because of three-days' illness, the Warren distance man dropped back into fourth place and looked hopeless from the spectators' point of view. Then after starting the final lap it was as if he had been struck by lightning and fans saw a finish that they will long remember.

This afternoon the local thrills are meeting Corry in a dual meet on the local track. Last year the Beavers were one of two teams

Sunset League Captains and Managers to Present Rosters And Talk Over Rules Tonight

Two representatives, preferably the team manager and captain, from the four teams entered in the Sunset Baseball League, will meet in the Times-Mirror Editorial office at 7:30 tonight, when entrance fees and rosters will be handed in, and the league rules gone over.

Making up the league, which will be playing its games on Monday and Wednesday evenings, starting May 12, are Youngsville, the Warren Merchants, Warren Elks, and Warren Business School.

The fields, on which the league games will be played, will be discussed during the meeting. Suggested for sites so far are Memorial Field, State Hospital, Jackson and Wilder.

Following the regular business session tonight, president Nick Croila and Bill Weidert will draw up the schedule for the campaign.

Thrills, Chills And Spills Features At Local Track Sunday

Racing fans from far and wide crowded the stands at the Dicky Ben Speedway Sunday to witness a most exciting day of stock car racing. Larry Frank of Corydon, struck out like an old timer in the race game and took first place in the heat race, although it was his second time at the wheel on any speedway. Eddie Norris, that sensational local driver who has furnished plenty of thrills at the Dicky Ben in the past, followed in to receive the checkered flag in second place; Chuck Martin of Russell finished third. The second heat was won by Cordosi of Jamestown, driving car No. 48, Bob Hallett finishing second in MC2 and Johnson of Jamestown, finishing third in his famous No. 33 Hudson.

The third race furnished thrills, chills, and spills that brought the crowd to its feet screaming. Walt Edditt, driving Honest John, rolled end for end and side over side in front of the bleachers and jumped out of his car with the engine still roaring. Shaw turned out to avoid striking Honest John and crashed into Brooks driving No. 29 spinning into Brooks out.

Winners of the first semi were George Egbert of Seio, N. Y., driving car No. 78; Herb Layfield, of Wellsville, N. Y., driving his underslung 9K, second; and Fangleborn a local driver, driving No. 18, third.

The second semi was won by Art Anderson of Jamestown, N. Y., when he drove his well known No. 51 Ford the full ten laps to receive the checkered red flag, with Gus Nelson, one of the most popular drivers in the stock car field, second; and Herb Layfield again taking third.

As announcer, Dick Morrison called out the line up of 24 cars for the twenty lap feature race and promoter Ben White hurried the cars from the pits to beat the threatening rain. The spectators crowded the fence as the green flag started the 24 cars roaring down the speedway with Martin of Russell, driving car No. 778 picking up the lead and holding it through to the 11th lap when Jack Thomas of Wellsville, N. Y., tapped the entire field to pick up the lead which he held through to the 17th lap, then being passed by Egbert in his Green Hornet No. 77. Gorty Thompson and Damons No. 3 moved into second place but only to hold it for one lap when Egbert again roared out in front to skid across the finish line in first place with Egbert, second, Gordie Thompson third, Eddie Norris fourth, Bob Frank fifth, Chuck Martin sixth, Dean Layfield sev-

Obstacles Faced By 28th Division To Be Entirely Replaced

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—Hill Gall's hopes of becoming king of the 3-year-olds seemed to hinge today on how well he can meet two upcoming issues.

Everybody agreed his performance in winning Saturday's Kentucky Derby stamped him a steed of unusual promise, one that might walk away with the championship honors. But he must:

1. Show that he can go the longer distances, such as the mile and one-half route of the Belmont Stakes later this spring.
2. Prove that he's master of other 3-year-olds that weren't ready for the Derby.

He left no doubt that he was master of the 15 that tried to run with him in the Derby. It was the ease with which he left them behind that had several observers along shed row at Churchill Downs singing his praise today.

But even those who were sold most solidly on the newest name in Calumet Farm's great collection of thoroughbreds mused speculatively on Hill Gall's determination to turn on the speed the minute he's out of the starting gate.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro said he couldn't restrain the colt.

Speed horses rarely can save enough steam for the stretched-out classics such as the mile and one-half Belmont, a quarter-mile longer than the Derby. But Hill Gall's time in the Derby indicates he can run both fast and far.

He missed the race record by a fifth of a second, touring the route in 2:04 3/5. Whirlaway, another Calumet speedster, set the record in 1941.

Falcons Continue Pony League Wins

By The Associated Press

The Hornell Dodgers felt the sting of defeat for the first time while Jamestown and Hamilton remained leaders after the first weekend of PONY League play.

Corning and the Wellsville Rockets still floundered around the cellar seeking their first win.

Jamestown left hander Tommy Schuett stopped the Corning A's yesterday with five hits as his Falcons nailed down an 8-0 win.

In other games the Bradford Phillies licked Hornell, 6-4; the Hamilton Cards took one from Wellsville, 14-7; and Batavia defeated Olean, 6-5.

Eddie Blake, rookie pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds, is studying law during the off-season at St. Louis University.

UNSUSPECTED by any of the participants in this little drama, there had been another witness to much of the acting. Back at the ranch house, Melody had been restless, unsure of herself, uncertain of what she wanted to do. Usually she had an exactly charted course in mind and followed it without question or deviation.

But this was different. She had married Steve Russell, and already she was at cross-purposes with her husband. There was the nagging thought of disloyalty in the course she had contemplated and more than half-way entered upon. Disloyal, because he was her husband and she loved him, and she was working with the Tarsons, who had been hostile to the Russells through all the history of the Bend.

Hesitating, her decision had been to ride out and have a look at the round-up, which report said was now gradually working back toward the ranch. It should be an interesting spectacle. And it would give her a chance to see Steve again, before she did anything else.

That decision had taken a weight off her mind. She had enjoyed the ride, and had finally been lucky enough to sight Steve himself, in the distance. Riding closer, she had been in a position to see most of what happened.

Now, separated from the little group by another fringe of trees and brush, she could both see and hear. She waited, watching with a growing fascination which amounted to horror. She was loath to break in upon what was transpiring, yet more reluctant to go away while Steve was involved in such a business.

The three were unhurried, almost studiously deliberate as they closed around the Noose rider. Terror which he could not disguise looked out of Hector's eyes, showed in the slackness of his

Senators Are Given Impetus by Former Yankees in Lineup

By JOE REICHLER
Sports Writer

Yesterday's Yankees are painting a brighter future for today's Washington Senators.

A near-unanimous pre-season pick for the American League cellar, Bucky Harris' Senators are right in the thick of the battle for the lead thanks to a quartet of ex-Yankees.

All four former New Yorkers played vital roles in Washington's sweep of a doubleheader from the skidding St. Louis Browns that boosted the Nats into third place, 3½ lengths behind the pace-setting Boston Red Sox.

Outfielders Archie Wilson and Jackie Jensen made auspicious debuts, pounding out nine hits between them as the Nats tripped the Browns, 2-1 and 13-7.

In the first game Bob Porterfield, another ex-Yankee, edged Timmy Byrne in a pitching duel. Porterfield came to Washington in another big transaction with the Yankees last June. Tom Ferrick, who came along in the same deal, was credited with the second game victory.

The Yankees were happy about the trade too, because Irv Noren chipped in with a pair of vital hits as they took two from the Chicago White Sox, 8-0 and 3-1.

HEADPIN TOURNAMENT

Millie Burman's 368 four game total took high in the Headpin Tourney this Saturday, with Tina VerMilyea's 393 a close second.

The high single game went to Rose Halle with a 103. For consolation prize Maud Gillett and Ann Bonavita receive a free lesson on how to hit the Headpin. This week the 360 doubles get underway.
